

Sacred Business

DoTerra “A Team”

Vicky Lee

Sept. 28, 2020

www.meaningandlifepurpose.com

Nomita's revelation: The Atman is a fragrance. Not a scent, or a smell, not qualities or a texture. but an essence.

Atman

The real self, the god within.

The baby as atman

fragrance of God, within

- The little one, “no name,” has a neutral fragrance. She is a mix of all the oils, the “white” in the color wheel.
- One can separate each guna (virtue of God) and give it a fragrance. Each quality of God has a fragrance, but all of them together, the white, is “no fragrance.”

I am feeling her guna—her quality of god-ness—and what came to me was lavender.

OnGuard embodies safety.
Love is a kiss. Rose.
Sweetness is lemon.

The fragrance reminds you:
I am love.
I am safety.
I am sweetness.

Being unconditional is key.

No name.
No place.
No relationship.
No attachment.

Being unconditional is key.

Not having any conditions to my business, growing. Then, I keep staying open to any kind of magic. Versus, even if I have the tiniest of conditions, then I block that magic.

When I am giving this fragrance to anyone—first of all—it is love. It is a guna (virtue) of God. It somehow brings out that fragrance that you are. The rose that you are. The love that you are.

When you apply it and when you are embodying that love, you have to have zero conditions on how you love, and how you are loved— - zero conditions of who, what, where, when, why, how. That is when you are love. The moment you narrow it down to anything, you are not “one” with love. You are then— -not love. You lose it. You are actually unloved.

A vibrant, sunlit forest scene with tall trees and dense green foliage. Sunlight rays stream through the canopy, creating a warm and peaceful atmosphere. The text is overlaid on semi-transparent green rectangular boxes.

Fragrances remind you of who you really are. Your real self.
Your atman.

I was stuck in this form of, "These 5 people should be my friends." So I blocked off friendship coming to me in every way.

I am friendship.

I feel it left, right, center, above, below,
behind, and in front of me.

A lush green forest scene with sunlight filtering through the trees, creating a bright and airy atmosphere. The text is overlaid on a semi-transparent green background.

Nomita:

I bring vibrance to everything I contemplate, touch, and invest my energy into.

Vibrance is my real self.

My abundance

Nomita	I use sacredness to attain, give, open up your vibrance.
Vicky	I use power to attain your meaning.
Jen	I use healing to attain your magic.
Michele	I use wisdom to attain your happiness.

My abundance

Nomita	The spirit of each oil.
Vicky	The mentality of each oil.
Jen	The emotions of each oil.
Michele	The physical science of each oil. (how to apply it, dilute, use it, eat it, spray it)